I had a private tour of the United States White House in 1969. I used my first computer in 1970. I wrote Fortran at the University of Maryland, College Park where I majored in Chemistry, my favorite class was Calculus, and I received an A for an architectural drawing I did of the United States Capitol in 1975. For the next 17 years I owned my own business, started teaching myself to become a Full Stack Developer / Windows system Analyst and refurbished computers for donation to a school for children in Croatia. From 1992 to 2007 I ushered every Sunday at the National Presbyterian Church, Washington, DC, whose members / attendees included President of United States Dwight D. Eisenhower, Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court Warren E. Burger, whose funeral service I ushered, Senator John Glenn, Secretary of State Condoleezza Rice, my parents Dr. and Mrs. J. Beverly Fellows, who are interred there, and my wife Colleen Flynn to name just a few. In 2007 I followed my parents to Missouri and cared for them till their death in 2009. For the next ~10 years I concluded teaching myself how to become a Windows System Analyst and Full Stack Developer and worked full time for AJ Ellis 417-327-3911 M-F 10-5 CST , a property manager, designing and developing his website livebolivar.com, using a godaddy Linux Shared Server, .htaccess, cPanel and Cloudflare to rent ~56 homes and ~100 apartments.
